That the expediion is a failure for this year, cannot be question ed; and when we reflect upon the matter and see what an immense amount of public property must be lost, as well as the condition of the troops, on short rations, and living in tents in a country where the snow is usually very deep during the entire winter, (in November it was two feet deep,)

In passing through the different canons they blindfolded him, to prevent him from btaining any knowledge of their movements is reported that Bill Hickman, who is one of the Danites, and a notorious scoundrel, has been killed by a mountain man named Baker. I am inclined to think that is his brother, who was a risoner in Col. Alexander's camp, as report

MESSAEE In submitting to the Senate the papers for which they have called, I deem it proper to make a few observations.

In capturing General Walker and his com-In capturing General Walker and his command, after they had landed on the soil of Nicaragua, Commodore Paulding has, in my opinion, committed a grave error. It is quite evident, however, from the communications herewith transmitted, that this was done from pure patriotic motives, and in the sincere conviction that he was promoting the interests and vindicating the honor of his country. In regard to Nicaragua, she has sustained no injury by the act of Commodore Paulding. This has enured to her benefit, and relieved her from a dreadful invasion. She alone would have any right to complain of the violation of her terany right to complain of the violation of her ter-ritory; and it is quite certain that she will never exercise this right. It unquestionably does not lie in the mouth of her invaders to complain in her name that she has been rescued by Commo-dore Paulding from their assaults. The error of this gallant officer consists in exceeding his in-structions, and landing his sailors and marines in Nicaragua, whether with or without her consent, Nicaragua, whether with or without her considered for the purpose of making war upon any military force whatever which he might find in the counry, no matter from whence they came. This power certainly did not belong to him. Obedience to law and conformity to instructions are the est and safest guides for all officers, civil and military, and when they transcend these limits and act upon their own personal responsibility, evil

Under these circumstances, when Marshal Ryners presented himself at the State Departmen n the 29th ult., with General Walker in custody he Secretary informed him that the executive de artment of the government did not recognise Gen-Walker as a prisoner; that it had no directions to give concerning him; and that it is only through the action of the judiciary that he could be lawfuly held in custody to answer any charges that might brought against him.

In thus far disapproving the conduct of Comodore Paulding, no inference must be drawn hat I am less determined than I have ever been to execute the neutrality laws of the United States. This is my imperative duty, and I shall continue to perform it by all the means which the onstitution and the laws have placed in my

Whether the executive government possesses ny, or what power, under the constitution, inependently of Congress, to prevent or punish his and similar offenses against the law of nations, was a subject that engaged the attention of our most eminent statesmen in the time of the administration of Gen. Washington, and on the casion of the French Revolution. The act of Congress of the 5th of June, 1794, fortunately removed all the difficulties on this question which ad therefore existed. The 5th and 7th sections of this act, which relate to the present question, are the same in substance with the 6th and 8th sections of the act of April 20th, 1818, and have now been in force for a period of more than sixty

My opinion of the value and importance of My opinion of the value and importance of these laws corresponds entirely with that expressed by Mr. Monroe in his message to Congress of December 7, 1819. That wise, prudent and patriotic statesman says: "It is of the highest imortance to our national character and indispensole to the morality of our citizens that all violation of our neutrality should be prevented. No door should be left open for the evasion of our laws, no opportunity afforded to any who may be disposed to take advantage of it to compromit the interest or the honor of the nation."

The crime of setting on foot or providing the eans for a military expedition within the United States to make war against a foreign State with which we are at peace, is one of an aggravated and dangerous character, and early engaged the ttention of Congress.

he act must have its origin, must "begin" or be 'set on foot," in the United States; but the great object of the law was to save foreign States with whom we are at peace from the ravages of these awless expeditions proceeding from our shores The seventh section alone, therefore, which simply defines the crime and its punishment, would ave been inadequate to accomplish this purpose and enforce our international duties. In order to render the law effectual, it was necessary to "prevent the carrying on" of such expeditions to their consummation after they had succeeded in eaving our shores

On the 26th November, Col. Johnston was at Fort Bridger, at which place he had established is head quarters. Col. Cooke, with six companies Second Dragoons, arrived that morning, State, or of any colony, district, or people with whom the United States are at peace.

For these reasons, had Commodore Paulding attercepted the steamer "Fashion," with General Walker and his command on board, at any period rould have prevented them from "carrying on the expedition, and have been not only a justifia-ole but a praiseworthy act. The crime well deserves the severe punishment inflicted upon it by our laws. It violates the principles of Christianity, morality, and humanity, held sacred by all civilized nations, and by none more than by the people of the United States .-Disguise it as we may, such a military expedition is an invitation to reckless and lawless men to enlist under the banner of any adventurer to rob. lunder, and murder the unoffending citizens of eighboring States who have never done them harm. It is a usurpation of the war-making pow-er, which belongs alone to Congress; and the government itself, at least in the estimation of the world, becomes an accomplice in the commis sion of this crime, unless it adopts all the means ecessary to prevent and to punish it. It would be far better, and more in accordance with the oold and manly character of our countrymen, for the government itself to get up such expeditions than to allow them to proceed under the command of irresponsible adventurers. We could chen, at least, exercise some control over our own igents, and prevent them from burning down cities and committing other acts of enormity of which we have read. The avowed principle which lies at the founlation of the law of nations is contained in the Divine command that "all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." Tried by this unerring rule, we should be severely condemned if we shall not use our best exertions to arrest such expeditions against our feeble sister republic of Nicaragua. One thing is very certain, that people never existed who would call any other nation to a stricter account than we should ourselves, for tolerating lawless expeditions from their shores to make war upon any portion of our territories. By tolerating such expeditions we shall soon lose the high character which we have enjoyed ever since the days of Washington, for the faithful performance of our international obligations and duties, and inspire distrust against us among the members of the great family of civilized na-

But if motives of duty were not sufficient to restrain us from engaging in such lawless en-terprises, our evident interest ought to dictate this policy. These expeditions are the most effectual mode of retarding American progress, It is beyond question the destiny of our race to

The tide of emigrants will flow to the South, and ca will soon contain an American population, which will confer blessings and benefits as well upon the natives as their respective govern-

Nothing has retarded this happy condition of affairs so much as the unlawful expeditions which have been fitted out in the United States to make war upon the Central American States. Had one-half of the number of American citizens who have miserably perished in the first disastrous expedition of Gen. Walker settled in Nica ragua as peaceful emigrants, the object which we all desire would ere this have been, in a great degree, accomplished. These expeditions have caused the people of the Central American States to regard us with dread and suspicion. It is our true policy to reprove this apprehension, and to convince them that we intend to do them good, and not evil. We desire, as the leading ower on this Continent, to open, and, if need be o protect every transit route across the Isthmus ot only for our own benefit, but that of the world, and thus open a free access to Central America, and through it to our Pacific posses-

This policy was commenced under favorable auspices, when the expedition, under the command of Gen. Walker, escaped from our territoroies and proceeded to Punta Arenas. Should another expedition of a similar character again evade the vigilance of our officers and proceed Nicaragua, this would be fatal, at least for eason, to the peaceful settlement of these coun ries and to the policy of American progress.-The truth is, that no administration can success ally conduct the foreign affairs of the country in Central America, or any where else, if it is to be interfered with at every step by lawless military expeditions "set on foot" in the United States. ## ventlon.

We had intended to review the resolutions adopted by the Democratic State Convention which recently assembled in this city, in our yesterday's issue; but when we came to study and analyze that great result of fifteen hours profound deliberation and labor, we found ourself in the position which, as we believe, the committee and its adroit chairman intended to involve any person who might be sufficiently daring to attempt to understand or construe their meaning. The action of the committee forcibly reminds us of triotic and just." the anecdote which is related of Jonathan Green, "the reformed gambler," who, in his peregrinations through the country, once sojourned for a few days in Spencer county. While there he frequently boasted of his great skill in playing cards, and succeeded in frightening all the "natives" of that region except an old man named Chinn, who offered to play with him for any amount. The offer being readily accepted, a game of brag poker was commenced, and before long Chinn had won Green's money, horse, saddle and bridle, and his watch. They then commenced playing for Green's trunk, the contents of which was soon transferred to the hands of Chinn. When Green was completely cleaned out, he lifted his hands in astonishment and exclaimed: "My God, Mr. Chinn, what sort of a game do you play?" "By Jupiter, sir," replied the wary old fellow, "I play all the ambiguities of the game!" These remarks are peculiarly applicable to the 1st resolution, and after a minute and critical examination of it, we are impelled to the belief that it was intended as mere "sound and fury, signifying nothing," or else it means too much to be palatable to the Southern Democracy. The resolution reads as follows:

Resolved, 1st. That we reaffirm the platform of principles unanimously adopted by the National Democracy in the Convention at Cincinnati, held in June, 1856, as fully expressive of our views and aims in all matters to which they relate, and we hold that whatever questions of a doubtful or disturbing nature, calculated to interrupt the harmony of the Democratic party are present ed to us, a recurrence to the first principles of that party and construction of them according t their obvious meaning and import, is the only safe rule by which we may guide our conduct, and appreciate the services of those we trust in all matters of State and Federal legislation.

We regard the expression, if not the intention of this resolution, to be evasive of the great question at issue between the north and south as geographical sections, and also evasive of the question which has arrayed the champion of the Kansas-Nebraska act in open hostility to the Administration. The mode of constructing Democratic platforms is so well understood in this country, as to render it almost useless to speak of the means by which such institutions are manufactured. Every man who can divest himself of prejudice, must admit that the platforms of the Democratic party have always been construed to suit the particular locality or section where the necessities of party required its interpretation in any particular manner. The Cincinnati platform to which this resolution alludes, was constructed during the most exciting period of the Kansas controversy-at a time when southern men had taken bold and manly ground against Cass' absurd theory of squatter sovereignty, and northern Democrats had taken equally as bold ground in favor of it. It became necessary to conciliate these opposing factions, and consequently the Cincinnati platform was constructed so as to be construed to mean anything which Democrats in different localities desired it to mean .-John Van Buren and Jefferson Davis both stood upon the Cincinnati platform, but they understood it to express very contradictory doctrines .-When then, a Democrat tells us that he stands on the Cincinnati platform we consider him as resorting to a miserable subterfuge, without he also tells us which side of that platform he stands upon. They all, both northern and southern Democrats, cry out "there is but one national party, and the Cincinnati platform is the expoparty, and the Cincinnati platform is the expoparty, and the Cincinnati platform is the expoparty."

The great ends of all study, of all acquirements, are the ability and disposition to discharge more effectually our duties as men and women, supper yet!" "Well, why don't you eat your continued to the continued of the nent of its principles," but there is no one among and as citizens.

them who will dare say, that they all agree upon the same construction of that platform.

This resolution goes on to state that the Convention "hold that whatever questions of a doubtful r disturbing nature, calculated to interrupt the harmony of the Democratic party are presented to us, a recurrence to the first principles of that party, and construction of them according to their obvious mean ing and import, is the only safe rule by which we may doubtful or disturbing nature calculated to interrupt the harmony of the Democratic party," now before the country? We have been informone of the columns of Democracy, with thou sands of followers in the North, has determined to advocate his own construction of the Kansas bill, and as he is the author of it, it is to be sun posed that he is capable of giving to it, its proper meaning, and that the promulgation of such seniments will bring him in direct and open colision with southern fire-eaters. Now, in this family brawl, Douglas will contend that his are the "first principles" of the Democratic party, and southern fire-eaters will claim the same honor for their own views; in such a case will some member of the committee please inform the community which are the "first principles" to which for each Representative district; that is, they would have them recur? Without some two delegates for each Representative in the such advice the Democrats will be as much at loss, as they were before this wise and well considered resolution was passed.

Information has reached us through reliable sources, that one STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS, to whom the American party will be made to glow is awarded the reputation of giving identity to with renewed brightness throughout the the Kansas-Nebraska act. has said in his place in the Senate of the United States, that Mr. Buch anan, President of the United States, and the embodiment of the "National" Democracy; that die. man who declared himself as no longer "James Buchanan," but the Cincinnati platform, which institution the Kentucky Democracy now endorse and re-affirm, expressed opinions in regard to the submission of the Kansas Constitution, which tended to encourage and perpetuate the distinc tion between slave and other property, which the Northern States had drawn. It is no business of ours to take issue with Mr. Douglas upon a con struction of the President's message. We under stand that Mr. Douglas endorsed the Cincinnati platform at the time of its erection, and we also nderstand that the Democracy of Kentucky now endorse it; so far Mr. Douglas and the Kentucky resentative was furnished yesterday with one Democracy agree; but there is a matter suggested to our mind in this connection, which we wish to elaborate. The Cincinnati platform endorses the Kansas Nebraska act; or, in other words, endorses the interpretation of that act, as it copies will be sent to their rooms by the Public was given by its author, in June, 1856. The interpreter contends that he has not change ed his position, but says that the President, alias Cincinnati platform, has been recreant to Resolutions of the Late Democratic Con- his pledges, and has endeavored to pervert the meaning of the principles upon which he based his oath of allegiance to the Democratic party, and has deliberately encouraged and endeavored to perpetuate an invidious distinction between slave and other descriptions of property. With Stephen A. Douglas on the stand as a witness against Mr. Buchanan upon an arraignment for treason to the south, a Democratic Convention with Lynn Boyd as its spokesman, declares that the views expressed by Mr. Buchanan in his message upon the subject of Kansas, are "wise pa- for the year 1857.

The House of Representatives went into committee of the whole again yesterday, on the bill for establishing a conventional rate of interest, and a distinguished member took a position so far from belonging to this age of progress, that it dates back to the time of the Carthagenians: that money is not property, but the representative of all property, being the creation of the sovereignty; whereas property is created by will be placed on the same footing with strangers-individuals. rived its only value from the stamp of sovereign | ital Hotel, from 5 to 9 P. M. The following ty, and, therefore, the substance of which it was gentlemen compose the Committee, viz: Col. T made was of no consequence; created by the L. Crittenden, Dr. E. H. Watson, Andrew Mc King, it was not of value like property, but was Kinley, Edgar Keenon, R. H. King, and Thos. the representative of all property, and only a M. Green. measure of value. But the people of the Levant were so leather-headed themselves that they refused to receive these leather representatives of property, because, they said, they did not really expense, a piece entirely new in this place, en epresent the value of the constituent property, titled "Beauty and the Beast," which they wil figs, raisons, wheat, &c., for nothing but property can truly represent property; save us from leather representation, especially in currency.

The gentleman may remember these events at Carthage, for aught we know, from the account at our city Theater, both in regard to scenery he gives of his own age, for verily he looks as costume and talent, we may safely assert that the young now, and certainly has grown no older in the last thirty years. Old or young, he will fight of the same play, that has ever been given else for what he deems right to the day of his death, if he ever dies, for he has ever done so in field and in council. But we cannot permit him (un wittingly, we believe,) to use a sophism so dan gerous as that which escaped him on yesterday-"Money not property!!"

When the Carrara marble receives from the hand of genius the impress of the features of the immortal Washington, does the marble cease to be property from the glorious function? When gold and silver are used to perform the sovereign function of money do they cease to be property, do they come down to the value of leather?-When the Abbey Terrasson proposed to the no torious Mr. Law to reimburse the Catholic Church with paper money, Law replied: "the Roman Clergy are not such fools, there is very little property in paper and ink.'

The California miner digs up gold-it is property; carries it to the mint, has it assayed, publish them now by request of several Senators weighed, and stamped. Will you tell him it is no longer property. It has become money. The Legislature of Kentucky tax money. We rather think they had some notion when the equalization law passed that even bank notes were property. We, for one, like to have them in possession and we think that the gentleman the South. before he gets two hundred years older (by that sustains him; the whole Northwest sustains him time he will be getting to years of discretion,) and there is good reason to believe that the good will be of our opinion. We hope that he and Missouri ought to endorse him. we will be done sowing our wild oats and wilder spoken in St. Louis for the "Little Giant" would opinions when the year 2058 arrives.

If We are very much gratified to learn that we were mistaken in stating, on yesterday, that the National Democratic party four-fifths of its no Clerk in the State had a complete set of the strength, and make a considerable hole in the Kentucky Reports. Col. RENNICK, the popular and efficient Clerk of Franklin county, has this valuable work entire, and will let any one who wishes, examine them in his office.

For this the eloquent and gifted tongue of our Everett has been heard in all parts of our country.

Their plan is to have an agent in the several States, who shall have power to appoint sub agents within their respective jurisdictions, with the special aim in view, to give an opportunity to all to enroll their names as donors to this monu ment of a nation's gratitude. Among other contributions to this noble object, Messrs. Devereaux & Co., of Philadelphia, have tendered a large number of their beautiful engravings of Washington, to be sold for the oint benefit of the publisher and the Mount Vernon Fund. Two hundred of these have been received by the agent, and are now offered for sale at the stores of Hegan & Escott, and Evarts & Murton, on Main street. There are three grades of these impressions; price, one dollar, seventy five cents, and fifty cents. They are excellent likenesses of Washington, and so cheap it seems almost inexcusable for any family not to have one. What better can we do for ourselves and our children to keep alive in our hearts the true patriotism, than to have this picture before our brarian. eyes that will remind us of him who was the em bodiment of the principles that bind together these United States!

Subscriptions to the Mount Vernon Fund may be sent to Wm. Richardson, at the Northern Bank, with the names of the donors, which will be duly registered and published at some future day. Remember one dollar entitles your name to a place in the roll.

NEW ALBANY AND SALEM RAILROAD.

IN the town of MELBOURNE, Karnes county, Texas, I being a new town site, recently laid off, on the Government road leading from Indianola to San Antonio, via Yorktown; where said road crosses the main Cleto, 22 miles from Yorktown and 45 miles from San Antonio, and where the Gonzales and Seguin roads intersect and cross to Helena; also near where the San Antonio and Mexican Gulf Railroad, now being constructed, passes—(as surveyed.) It is one of the most desirable locations for an inland town, in Western Texas. The soil adjacent is good, water excellent. Lots on main street, 75 feet front, 150 feet back, are now offered at FIFTY DOLLARS per lot; back lots, same size, at TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS per lot. Short Line Route to the North & West

Those who wish to commence business in a new town, or to double or treble their money, would do well by purchasing early, before the price of lots is raised. We will also sell the Tavern, known as the Gillock House, including the whole block upon which it stands.

Emigrants will find this to be as healthy and fertile a section of country as there is in almost any of the States. For further particulars call on us at our residence in MELBOURNE, or address us by letter, 'Eelecto Post Office, Karnes county, Texas.''
